Paltz Security Chief Will Switch Parties

Shannon to Run for Sheriff as Democrat

By CHAZY DOWALIBY
Freeman staff

KINGSTON — After 15 years as a Republican, New Paltz College security chief Edward Shannon said this morning that he'll switch parties and run for Sheriff on the Democratic ticket.

The fifty-three year old former State Police Investigator made the announcement at a news conference in Democratic headquarters here, prompted, he said, by the lack of response from GOP chairman Kenneth Whispell to a letter seeking that party's support.

Earlier this week incumbent Sheriff Thomas Mayone said he would run for a second three-year term on the Republican ticket.

Both Mayone and Shannon agree the administration of the county jail will be the key issue in the upcoming fight, but they have different perspectives on just how that previously-troubled facility is now operating.

Shannon said today that he has been told by other law enforcement officials that "conditions inside the jail are much the same as they were three, four or five years ago, when riots, damage to property, thefts and assaults became such a public issue that Mayone was able to oust then-Sheriff William Martin.

But Shannon may have a hard time following in Mayone's politically successful footsteps because, as the newly-christened Democrat points out, there is no "concentrated effort to dig these facts about the jail out."

Ed Shannon, as he announced his switch and candidacy.

Shannon added that he didn't feel information on conditions at the Golden Hill facility were being "intentionally suppressed" by Mayone.

The new candidate has not been on a tour of the jail himself, lately and says he is not planning to tour the prison in the immediate future.

Shannon resigned from the State Police in 1970 after 23 years of service and immediately took up the post of security chief of the 20-man force of the State University College at New Paltz.

"A major function of the security director as well as a State Trooper is dealing with people of different temperaments. There is no difference in the Sheriff's job," said Shannon.

"I'm an administrator now, in

Bogart to Con Ed: 'It's a Big Bribe'

Nukes Hailed as Tax Boon

By SID LEAVITT
Freeman staff

TOWN OF ESOPUS — If Consolidated Edison joins their tax rolls with nuclear or coal-fired power plants, Esopus and Lloyd townspeople will enjoy an enormous drop in their property tax bills, spokesmen for the downstate utility told a local hearing Thursday night.

Just one of the four to six plants Con Edison wants to build either in Lloyd-Esopus or Red Hook-Milan "would probably come in at three to four times the total (current) assessment of both towns," said Frederick J. Hunziker Jr., Con Edison tax specialist.

Larry Bogart, one of the non-resident nuclear opponents whose questions on nuclear safety and radiological waste hazards were barred from discussion by previous agreement, called Con Edison's tax projections "a big bribe."

In their first local appearance since the utility's announcement in November that it would study the Mid-Hudson Valley for 5,000 megawatts of additional power facilities for the 1990's, Hunziker and four other Con Edison representatives discussed the complex siting and licensing procedures for a nuclear plant, real estate acquisition and taxes.

Esopus Supervisor Sills, left, and Lloyd Supervisor Decker moderated meeting.

By early summer, Con Edison's real estate representatives will start visiting residents in the 2,000- to 3,000-acre area on the Lloyd-Esopus town line that the utility has designated as its prime study site.

James P. Manning, Con Edison real estate expert, said access rights will be sought to those properties for two to three years of field studies which must be done under state and federal licensing procedures.

Field offices will be opened in Kingston and Poughkeepsie, although Manning didn't know when.

"Would this wipe out taxes altogether?" asked Bertin Long of Highland.

Hunziker said the utility's nuclear complex at Indian Point now pays 80 per cent of the taxes in the Village of Buchanan.

One nuclear plant would cost $1.75 billion to construct, and a coal plant would run about $1 billion, he said. Con Edison's plans call for either four nuclear plants or six coal plants, with construction to begin in the mid-1980's.

Current taxable property valuation in both Lloyd and Esopus now totals only $183 million.

"We would expect to be taxed as

Original State Document to Be Read, Displayed

Constitution Comes Home

KINGSTON — The original New York State Constitution, adopted in Kingston on April 20, 1777 and read to the public from the steps of the courthouse on Wall Street two days later, will be brought back to Kingston and put on display during the week of April 18 through April 23 as part of the city's bicentennial celebration.

Mayor Francis R. Koenig says that the details concerning security have not been worked out, however, he has been advised by State Librarian Peter Paulson that the State Board of Regents has agreed to loan the document to the city. The constitution will be on display at the newly renovated Senate House Museum.

According to the New York State American Revolution Bicentennial

Commission, the constitution was composed on either April 17 or 18, 1777 in anticipation of a final vote by the Convention of Representatives, which was meeting in Kingston. The Commission says that amendments were still being added to the 42 article document on April 19 and April 20 and the late changes were simply penciled into the text.

On the evening of April 20, 1777, the convention voted on the adoption and following the vote, the heavily amended constitution, with additions inserted in margins, phrases crossed out and words written between lines, was signed by the convention president, Leonard Gansevoort.

In addition to the display of the 200 year old document, the city has also planned a series of events for the historic week, which will include:

- A joint meeting of the New York State Legislature in Kingston on Saturday April 23.

- The unveiling of a new plaque on the tomb of Governor George Clinton. The plaque is a gift of the Old Dutch Church Bicentennial Committee.

- The premiere of the Kingston Bicentennial Commission's film "The New Roof."

- Three birthday balls, one each in the Kingston Holiday Inn, the Governor Clinton Hotel and the Walnut Grove Restaurant on Saturday evening, April 23. Tickets for the balls are now on sale and can be obtained through the Kingston Bicentennial Commission, 97 Broadway.

Mona Policano Was UCCC Student

Crash Kills Saugerties Girl

By LYNN MULVANEY
Freeman staff

HYDE PARK — A massive pileup of cars and a loaded gasoline truck Thursday claimed the life of an Ulster County Community College student whom her former Saugerties High School assistant principal, William Hayes described as "a real sweetheart."

Mona Policano, 18, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Policano of 1331 Blue Mt. Saugerties, was killed in the 2:23 p.m. accident in which four cars and a tractor trailer truck carrying 8,500 gallons of gasoline collided on Route 9 and River Point Road here.

No fire resulted from the collision. Two other persons were injured and are reported in fair condition in St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie today.

Described as "A pleasant, bright, dependable girl", who helped out as a messenger at her high school last year, Miss Policano was the driver of an oncoming car which was struck by the tanker truck as it tried to avoid a collision between the two vehicles in front of it. She was pronounced dead at the scene.

The trucker, Oscar Swinton, 54, of Lake George, suffered lacerations of the face and a broken nose. The other injured motorist was Jacqueline A. Sidote, 24, of Hyde Park Heights, who sustained lacerations of the face.

Two other drivers involved in the crash, Robert Munderback, 51, of Davis Road, Salt Point, a employee of Central Hudson, and Edward C. Mayfield, 50, of 29 Horseshoe Drive,

World in Brief

FBI Probe Shows Ray Acted Alone

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A thorough FBI investigation indicates James Earl Ray acted alone in the 1968 assassination of civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr., the Justice Department announced today.

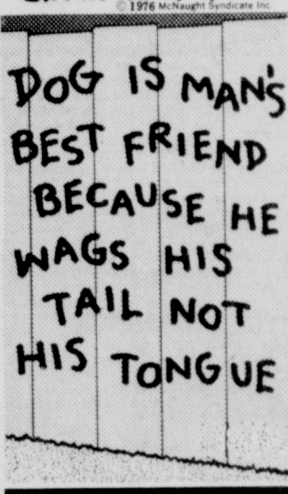

"In all the years following the assassination, the investigation has failed to reveal any connection between any alleged conspirator(s) and James Earl Ray — including those alleged by Ray himself," the 201-page report of the investigation stated.

Carter Sends Letter To Soviet Dissident

MOSCOW (UPI) — President Carter has written a personal letter to Soviet dissident Andrei Sakharov, pledging to use his "good offices" to seek the release of what he called "prisoners of conscience."

Sakharov had asked Carter to intercede on behalf of a jailed biologist, Sergei Kovalev, who he said has cancer, and four members of a dissident group monitoring Soviet compliance with the human rights provisions of the International Helsinki security accords, who were arrested this month.

High Jobholders Get Federal Raise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Like the weather, an automatic raise for an estimated 2,496 top-level government employees has been talked about — but nobody has done anything about it. As a result the wages of federal judges, Cabinet members, the vice president, congressmen and two former presidents will automatically be raised an average 28 per cent Sunday by default.

What clinched it was that the Senate, which earlier had tabled a resolution disapproving the hike, was in recess all week and the House completed its business Thursday and adjourned until Monday without bringing up the issue.

Living Costs Take Big Jump

WASHINGTON — Higher prices for food, shelter and energy boosted the cost of living 0.8 per cent in January for the biggest increase in 18 months, the Labor Department said today.

The Federal agency also said the average worker's spendable income was reduced by 1.1 per cent last month. The blame was placed on higher payroll and income taxes as well as layoffs caused by frigid weather.

Randall's Service Reaps Praise

KINGSTON — County legislature Chairman Ernest Gardner, R-Dist., 8, today gave high praise to the nearly seven years of service former Manpower Coordinator Robert C. (Josh) Randall had given to the county and said "frankly, we'll all miss him."

Randall surprised county officials earlier this week when he announced his resignation, effective March 22.

Shortly after that announcement, the 41-year-old department head entered a regional hospital for personal health reasons.

"Josh Randall has well served the residents of Ulster County since September, 1971," said Gardner.

"Under his direction the county has made some significant improvement in the area of human resources and intergovernmental co-ordination.

"Frankly, we will all miss Josh Randall, but we can be comforted by the fact that we were able to utilize his skills and knowledge in this vital area."

"Our best wishes are extended to Josh for the future."

Randall served as head of the dual Manpower and Intergovernmental of-

Volk Apparently Jumped or Fell from Window

Police Probe Patient's Death

KINGSTON — The death of 86-year-old John Volk, who apparently jumped or fell from a fourth floor window at Kingston Hospital early this morning, is under investigation by city detectives today.

Volk, who lived alone at 24 Hoffman St., Kingston, had been a patient at the hospital since Feb. 14 when he was reportedly admitted for cataract surgery.

His body was discovered where it landed on a pile of rocks at the rear of the hospital. A nursing supervisor called police at 1:28 a.m.

Volk had been a patient in a fourth floor room he shared with two other male patients.

Pending an autopsy to determine the cause of death, police declined to comment other than to say the window through which Volk jumped or fell, had been opened, not broken.

A neighbor of the elderly gentleman, Mrs. Helen House of 26 Hoffman St., described him as a cheerful person. He had been having trouble seeing, she said, and failed to recognize a person he knew on the street.

Jobless Rate Steady

KINGSTON — The number of county residents filing for unemployment benefits has remained about the same for the past two weeks.

Figures released by the State Dept. of Labor show a slight increase of 130 additional claims for the week ending Feb. 11, but local employment office spokesman William Alfonsin thinks that's probably because of the temporary layoff of Channellmaster employees in Ellenville.

Alfonsin said that 5,340 claims were filed at the Kingston and Ellenville offices last week, compared to 5,227 during the week ending Feb. 4.

Of that number only 17 exhausted all benefits last week and 15 the week before.

Alfonsin noted that it was impossible to determine how many people discontinued their claims because they had found work.

Specific breakdown of claims for

Greco Mum on N—Plant...But

SAUGERTIES — Pressed to take a position on the proposed nuclear plant in Cementon, a bionic blink of the eye from Saugerties, Town Supervisor Frank Greco won't commit himself.

But he came close to a stand of sorts recently when the town board was asked to have a representative on hand at all future hearings on the plant's construction.

"Saugerties is absolutely a depressed area," Greco said, "and I want to see some kind of industry come in here."

Added the supervisor, "I won't take a position for or against the Cementon plant, but we need employment. We need people working in this town, even for a few years—and we need a money flow. We've tried to attract business here, but we've had no luck."

The previous town board was on record as being an intervenor in the nuclear matter, but only two members of that board still serve. Greco agreed, however, that holdover Councilman Clarence Gardner and new Councilwoman Jennifer Peetoom should feel free to attend hearings in behalf of the town, and represent its interests as they saw fit.

But the supervisor returned to his theme again when he said, "I will definitely go for ANYTHING that brings work to Saugerties. Too many people tell me they have not eaten too well because they're trying to scrape up the money to pay their taxes."

Some relief for some of those people will come from the community block grant program just approved for the town by the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Low income housing rental assistance is now available for elderly, handicapped, or displaced people who live in existing housing units in Saugerties. The board urges anyone who needs such assistance to apply immediately.

In the continuing dispute between the town and Halmar Construction Corp. over sewer pipe work in Barclay Heights, Greco noted several recent meetings with soil experts for both sides, and DEC and EPA engineers. The board now feels, after test borings, that an additional $800,000 requested by Halmar for unexpected labor required is close to acceptable.

Halmar will now submit another proposal, listing item-by-item cost of work planned, and the board will agree with the final decision made by the DEC and EPA in the matter. Litigation, the town felt, might cost many thousands, and drag on for years, delaying sewer work.

By pricing out techniques and options, Greco felt the board would be able to select those most feasible. Still to be decided is a choice between the existing gravity flow system, or a pumping station. Most board members are concerned that a pumping station would bring future maintenance costs.

In other recent action, the board:

- Agreed that two town policemen are entitled to time off for military reserve guard service, and will receive up to 30 days pay from the town during service.

- Said it would investigate the possible need for town licensing of plumbers and electricians needed for sewer system hookup work.

•Voiced concern that the village board "is hedging for some reason" on a petition from town residents in Cafaldo Park for inclusion in the Glasco Water District, and hoped for a long-delayed answer. Town officials and workers also had a wristslap for the village for failure to aid town residents who pay for village water during recent freezeups attributed to sewer construction. It was town workers instead, it was noted, who solved those problems when the village refused help.

Kiwanis Offers Aid To Reduce Burglaries

KINGSTON— The Kiwanis Club is offering to assist local residents in reducing burglaries through the use of etching tools to mark personal property for identification. Tools and assistance in using them will be available at the Midtown Center on Broadway on Saturday, Feb. 19, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Only items which can be easily carried should be brought to the center. A Kiwanis spokesman said etching numbers on property takes only a few minutes, and a number of tools will be provided.

Arson Case Pair Included

Indictments Returned

KINGSTON — Two men suspected of celebrating New Year's by touching a torch to Camp Gulliver near Pine Hill in an alleged attempt to collect $160,000 worth of insurance, have been indicted by Ulster County Grand Jury.

Arthur Hitt, 27, and Frank Garone, 26, of Delaware County are charged with arson in the third degree.

First Assistant District Attorney Michael Kavanagh also handed up six other indictments in court Thursday including Walter Ducker, 17, of Ulster Heights, charged with burglary, third degree, and Jack V. Hartman, 32, of Ulster Park, indicted for reckless endangerment in the third degree.

John Cole, 36, of Kingston was indicted a second time on the same charges of robbery and second degree assault; Douglas Storts, 24, of Poughkeepsie, is charged with bail jumping; Arthur Ramirez, 24, of Ellenville, was indicted for second degree robbery and James Hampton, 20, of Brooklyn, is under indictment for third degree burglary.

Garone and Hitt were arrested last November after an intensive four-county investigation into the Camp Gulliver fire.

Ducker is alleged to have burglarized the Toy Factory on Berne Road in Ellenville, Oct. 19.

Hartman was arrested last year and charged with throwing eight huge rocks at cars cruising Rt. 28 near Weidy's Furniture. Ulster deputies said some of the boulders weighed 10 to 20 pounds. Two motorists were injured slightly.

Cole is alleged to have assaulted a Kingston woman on John St., last October and tossed her out of his car on Ringtop Road. He was indicted in December but when his attorney asked that he be able to testify before the grand jury, the case was re-presented and he was indicted again.

Storts was indicted for a New Paltz robbery 18 months ago but was released on bail. When his lawyer repeatedly failed to produce him in court, an indictment was handed up accusing him of bail jumping.

Ramirez is alleged to have stabbed another Fallview Hotel employee during a fight in January. He is also accused of taking $24 from his 62-year-old victim, William Bittner.

Hampton, who was arrested on a warrant, is alleged to have entered Michael's Chevrolet, American Finance Company and Sears Automotive Store and is charged with three counts of burglary. Police said $1,400 was taken in the auto dealership entry.

Four other cases presented have been transferred to a lower court.

They include Patricia Brackman, 36, Wawarsing, charged with driving while intoxicated; Lawrence Gersh and Marvin Schildhorn, Kingston, failure to record a titled vehicle; Warren Kraus, 26, Kingston, third degree assault and Rodney Taylor, 27, of New Paltz, reckless endangerment, second degree.

For 100 County Residents

Free Home Winterization Due

KINGSTON — About 100 county homeowners will get their houses winterized during the next two months for free.

The freezing cold of this year's winter has melted a block in federal funding for the winterizing program and that money will begin flowing into the county this week in the form of manpower employees and free materials to storm—proof and insulate eligible households.

The entire program is being coordinated by the Multi-County Community Development Corporation, a regional organization which includes Ulster's Community Action Committee.

Ken Stephens, who is running the local program out of a Highland office, said this morning that he is now ready to take applications for the free weatherproofing and that 10 workers, paid through CETA Title VI from the Kingston Manpower office, will be doing the actual work.

"We have placed a priority on helping senior citizens who own their own homes and meet the income requirement," said Stephens, but the program is open to any persons who meet the federal guidelines.

The average cutoff for a family of four is about $6,900 a year.

Stephens noted that although the program doesn't absolutely exclude people who rent homes and pay the heating bills, it does concentrate on homeowners, because they are the ones who will have to pay recurring costs.

Last year a similar program employed 3 persons and weatherized 73 homes around the county. Thirty four were in Kingston and the remainder in more rural areas.

Another aspect of his job Stephens intends to push this year is offering some "consumer education" to property holders about just how they can cut down on fuel bills by making some small adjustments around the house.

Most of the other counties in the corporation's territory are recipients of emergency federal program funds because of the recent natural gas shortage in the state. Ulster has not suffered from fuel shortages so far this winter.

Orange County has received funds for 90 men to winterize 300 homes and Rockland will get money to insulate 100 pieces of property.

Anyone who wishes to learn more about the program or to apply for the free service can write to Stephens at the corporation office, Box 636, 57A Vineyard Ave., Highland, or can call him or the local Community Action Committee in Kingston.

Area Hospital Care to Be Aired

KINGSTON— The future of hospital care in the county will be the subject of a March 2 meeting where representatives of Kingston and Benedictine Hospitals will be able to present their positions to an 11-member ad hoc committee made up of members of the Ulster County Sub-area Council of the Health Systems Agency (HSA).

Committee chairman Dr. Mitchell Winston says his group will be considering two questions: the possibility of a merger of the two hospitals and the question of which hospital will retain their obstetrical services.

The merger proposal, which has been brought up repeatedly in the past five years by officials at Kingston Hospital, is being adamantly opposed by the Benedictine officials. The main objection deals with what has been termed "differing philosophies." Specifically, Benedictine officials are opposed to such medical practices as abortion and sterilization, which are performed at Kingston Hospital. The differing philosophy issue is also the basis for objections raised with regard to the question of which hospital will retain the obstetric unit.

Compounding the problem is that fact that Kingston Hospital officials are claiming that the facility which loses the obstetric unit is in danger of losing a good deal more.

"If a new family coming into the community has a baby delivered at Kingston Hospital, then in do time, when they need additional medical care, such as an operation, there's a good chance that they will return to Kingston Hospital," explained outgoing Kingston Hospital President Herman Geisler. "If you multiply that problem you begin to see where it can lead."

Noting that the obstetric and pediatric units account for only about one-third of the hospital's patient volume, Geisler added that "you can't take 30 per cent away from one hospital and expect it to survive."

If some sort of an agreement is not reached by mid-August, it's expected that fiscal sanctions will be placed on both hospitals by the state.

Despite Low Asbestos Levels

Paltz Will Hit Ceiling

By LYNN GOLDENBERG
Correspondent

NEW PALTZ — Although a recent survey found asbestos concentration levels at the New Paltz Middle School to be well below the danger level, District Supt. Robert J. McCarthy says action will be taken to coat the ceiling of the affected area as a precautionary measure.

Testing for levels of asbestos concentration in the air was ordered in the light of recent danger-level asbestos findings in several New Jersey schools, McCarthy told the New Paltz Board of Education this week. Portions of ceilings in the Middle School had been constructed with asbestos.

Tests were conducted Jan. 28 by Rossnagel & Associates, a New Jersey engineering and testing firm.

Results of the testing, published in a report released at the board meeting, showed no concentration of asbestos in the air at two out of three locations.

Testing at the third site, the school guidance office report revealed a concentration of .0079 fibers per milliliter of air sample taken. According to the report, this equals 1/253 of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration limit of two fibers per milliliter.

This, according to the report, shows a very acceptable level of asbestos fibers.

The testing firm did recommend coating, removing or sealing the guidance office ceiling, which did have noticeable flaking. According to the firm, coating can be applied for a cost of about 50 to 60 cents per square foot.

The nearby Rondout Valley School District, spurred by the same New Jersey problems, had to close its high school two days last month so that epoxy polymer could be sprayed on about 50,000 square feet of asbestos ceiling at an estimated cost of $33,000.

However, contamination readings at Rondout Valley High School went as high as .15 to .17 fibers per milliliter, which is about 20 times higher than the New Paltz readings.

CAPITOL CAPSULE

Senate Now Balks on Funds

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — A summary of state government news Thursday:

LEGISLATIVE BUDGET

United Press International has appealed under the state's Freedom of Information Law the Senate's refusal to make public how it spends its share of the legislature's $46.2 million-a-year budget. A week ago, UPI appealed the Assembly's rejection of a similar request.

Also refused by Roger Thompson, secretary of the Senate, was UPI's request for a list of all Senate records which the Freedom of Information Law prescribes must be available.

UPI asked for information on staff and spending on such services as public relations, photography and printing. The expenditures are lumped into one category in the state budget, the only information available to the public.

INSURANCE LOOPHOLE

A loophole that permitted three major insurance companies to increase premiums on automobile coverage without prior Insurance Department approval has been plugged with Gov. Hugh Carey's signature on a bill acted on 14 days late by the legislature.

Meanwhile, however, the companies are able to continue collecting the higher premiums instead of waiting for state approval.

While the two houses of the legislature deadlocked over how long to extend the so-called "prior approval" law when the law expired Feb. 1, increases of up to 24 per cent were announced by Home Insurance, Allstate and State Farm. The Republican-ruled Senate relented Tuesday and approved a Dec. 31 extension previously passed by the Democratic Assembly.

TEACHERS' PENSIONS

The actuary for the State Teachers' Retirement System said a change in funding for teachers' pensions proposed by Gov. Carey to offset cuts in education aid "is clearly unsound."

Carey proposed that school districts be allowed to stretch out retirement system payments for 40 years — instead of 25 — in order to cut current costs by $70 million as an offset against $150 million in state education aid cuts.

Going to The Source

Two members of Lt. Gov. Mary Ann Krupak's staff were in town yesterday interviewing people about the unemployment problem.

Mrs. Krupak will follow up with a personal visit to Kingston in few weeks to confer with the county legislature, business and union leaders and the unemployed themselves.

It's all part of an effort by the state's executive branch to get information first-hand from depressed areas of the state. Mrs. Krupak's assistants told us their on-the-spot visits have given them a much better feel for the needs and hopes of upstate New York's various regions than they can get from the "abstractions" reported to them by state agencies.

They mentioned the experience of meeting in one room with both community leaders and jobless workers in Utica. The unemployed had more specific suggestions to make than anyone else — not unrealistic "grand solutions" such as attracting a big new factory — but achievable small steps which they felt could put more people to work in Utica.

Mrs. Krupak's staff is also collecting local examples of the scandalous inequities in the distribution of public works money from the federal government. Ulster County and other high-unemployment areas of New York got virtually nothing from this massive job-creation program this year.

Mrs. Krupak will be testifying before Congress on this problem and she wants to be able to cite the absurdities of federal aid formulas chapter and verse.

If her grass roots information gathering effort is followed up with legislation addressed to the peculiar needs of each region and a strong lobbying drive in Washington, the lieutenant governor's project could pay big dividends for Ulster and other counties in the same boat.

Hearts Bleed for Workers?

Dear Editor:

Thank you for your very apt

reply to Mr. Robert Dodig's letter!

As for Mr. Dodig, let me say that very few hearts bleed for you construction workers. It is a well known fact that state and federal governments pay at a much higher rate than that which can be afforded by private industry.

If you were really willing to work

all year round, you would have (in all the spare time you have enjoyed in 21 years) fitted yourself for work in private industry. But that wouldn't suit you. Working for the governments (which are subsidized by taxpayers) you have unfortunately become accustomed to working about six months and collecting unemployment benefits for the other six. (Said benefits also come out of taxpayers' pockets.)

Speaking of unemployment, construction workers comprise only a small fraction of the unemployed.

Thousands of policemen,

firemen, and school teachers have been laid off throughout the state.

Can federal government afford to create jobs for them? We don't need any more highways. The state can't afford to properly maintain the existing roads. We do need the protection of our police and fire departments and it is unfair to our children to cut back on educational facilities for lack of funds and then spend taxpayers' money to build unneeded highways just to make jobs for construction workers.

Hospital Ploy Machiavellian

Dear Editor:

With sinking heart and alarm for my personal well-being I read last week of the Machiavellian ploy used by Kingston Hospital executives to turn a public hearing on one subject

into a relaunching of a rejected plan for its own benefit.

The hearing was called to air the pros and cons of a state Department of Health project to consolidate the three Ulster County hospitals' gynecological and obstetrical departments within one hospital and to do the same with the pediatrics departments. That was a far cry from renewed efforts by Kingston Hospital executives for a merger with Benedictine Hospital. Kingston Hospital has been pushing the merger idea for years: at one point it even offered to buy Benedictine.

I would like to raise my voice loudly and selfishly in opposition to merger.

For the past three years the writer has been doing concentrated research on hospital history, Kingston Hospital's as well as Benedictine's. As a recent patient in a coronary intensive care unit, and, like everyone else, a potential hospital patient at any time in the future, I know that a hospital monopoly in Kingston would result in the kind of "take it or leave it" care

one encounters in the public hospitals in New York City. A merger inevitably would deprive me of the quality of care I want and need in a time of illness.

As for the perennially persuasive argument that merger would cut hospital costs: nonsense, institutional

mergers of the past have produced no economic miracles.

Kingston Hospital, despite its official-sounding name, is a voluntary, non-profit general hospital like

Benedictine. Presently it is landlocked on four sides, the crux of the problem which has led its executives to acquire land outside the city for a new structure. It is the dread of administrators and boards of directors to try to use a horse-and-buggy

itals become obsolete with terrifying

speed. The easiest way out of Kingston Hospital's troubles would be merger with Benedictine, Benedictine with its larger acreage, 252 beds and contemporary facilities.

From the patient's standpoint,

what would start as a simple merger

would wind up as a take-over.

There is controversy over the standing of the Medical Society of Ulster

County, whether it actively endorsed merger or simply did not oppose it.

No matter, the record of the medical profession as crystal-ball gazers is abysmal. From individual doctors to the American Medical Association,

they have been crying "socialized medicine!" at every patient-aiding innovation since the turn of the century (including the original three-cents-a-day hospital insurance of the 1930s.)

The state Department of Health and the Washington bureaucrats have even drier records as long-range planners. In the late 1940s and 1950s they plugged for large medical centers to which patients would be transported from considerable distances. This plan was full of healthcare holes, so they turned to fostering many small community hospitals.

This went down the tubes because there were not enough patients to pay for or even use often enough necessary

expensive equipment and high priced technical personnel.

Now, apparently the bureaucrats'

fad is consolidation. I shudder to think what the outcome will be if the theorists are wrong — again. I do not want to be forced to enter one hospital, rushed willy-nilly to one coronary

or intensive care unit or spend time in one large emergency room on a weekend when my doctor along with the others has disappeared.

My prayer is that each of us will recognize and reject

Kingston Hospital's merger putsch

for the dubious power play that it is.

IN VAIN — Firemen apply mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and heart massage to Corey Goodman, 5, as they carry the little boy from his smoke-filled home in Brooklyn Thursday. Their efforts were in vain as the boy died. His sisters, Tina, 2, and Karen, 3, were in stable condition this morning.

Give Peace, Carter A Chance

WASHINGTON — President Carter has been saying, signaling and wigwagging every which way that he hopes and intends to cut a major disarmament deal with the Russians. So far, millions of us who have been concerned about this question seem to be hearing him without understanding him.

That may be because we can't believe that a public official will say anything he means in public. The words of presidents are taken as authentic tokens of their support only if they have been leaked by an eavesdropper. But presidents don't always lie or dissemble in public, and even those who do, like President Nixon, have also been caught telling the truth.

Thus in retrospect, it is clear that when Nixon used to talk about world peace and how he was working for it, he really was. Now after three years of drift under Ford/Kissinger, Carter is obviously picking up where Nixon left off and pushing forward the work of accommodation and disarmament begun by his predecessor.

Will he be supported? Countless liberals who had urged a reconciliation with Communist China couldn't bring themselves to congratulate Nixon when he did it. Something of the same may be happening to Carter. People who ought to be dancing around, issuing press releases and screaming, "Atta way ta go, Peanut!" are holding back on Carter, mumbling that he's only doing it for "political reasons," that he doesn't mean it, or arguing, "Yea, but look at the Bell appointment..." Instead of asking themselves whether they should endorse a specific measure they are saying they can't or won't do that until they can endorse the whole man and everything he does or will do.

This is too important a question to be settled on that basis. We could be coming up on our last chance to get any kind of significant and true disarmament. If it turns out later that Carter doublecrossed us, there may be time before the first rocket falls to denounce him. Until then, whether he sells out the homeowners of America to oil and gas companies or not, we need to support him.

Thus far in the short, interesting life of this administration, the only big, convincing noises have been coming from politicians like Sen. Sam Nunn of Georgia who gets angry and starts spitting tobacco if he even hears Carter has prayed for peace in Sunday school. The defeat of Sorensen for the CIA job has been made to appear a victory for the warhawk party, although Sorensen in actuality appears to have been another one of those brutal young men around Kennedy who, like the former president, got off on death/hero thrills like the Cuban Missile Crisis.

With the air filled with speeches to the effect that a man of peace has no business holding the top CIA job or apparently any other government job except Commissioner of Graves, you get the impression that nobody is interested in supporting Carter or maybe they don't think he means disarmament when he says it. The appointment of Andy Young to the U.N. ambassadorship belies that. Young is a man of peace and so, by all accounts, is Paul Warnke, whom Carter has nominated to head up our arms control effort.

Every time Carter opens his yap he sticks in a plug for disarmament. Take him at his word and take establishmentarians like Kennan at their words. It doesn't matter what their motives are. One of the tricks of politics is getting people to do the right thing for the wrong reason. If Carter's going to succeed with disarmament he's going to have to have the vocal and viable support of everyone who wants it. Look at the trouble Nixon ran into when he came back from Russia with an arms limitation treaty that didn't limit any arms. The mere verbal commitment to the ideal ruptured spleens in the Senate.

Tail-Gunner Joe Scared Them

The life and character of Senator Joseph McCarthy, as depicted recently on NBC, must go down as one of television's finer moments. The shocking candor of the document kept viewers sitting spine-straight for three hours.

A few things remain untold. When Tail-Gunner Joe's first term in the Senate ran out, he realized that his apathetic performance would kill him in Wisconsin. The man lacked creativity, so he hunted for something to destroy.

A short, rolly-polly columnist, George Sokolsky, came to his rescue. Mr. Sokolsky was a conservative. His political stance would make William Buckley appear to be a flaming liberal.

Sokolsky whispered the phrase, "Communism in government." George sent Joe to a newspaper executive who maintained detailed files on American liberals, pinkos, socialists and communists.

It was there that McCarthy got his ammunition. Had he used it well and cautiously, he might have made a name for himself. No one, including his sponsors, realized that Joe was a dangerous man. He waved papers "which contain 206 names of known communists in our government."

He refused to show the papers. He refused to name names. The senator decided to make himself great by destroying the State Department first, the Army second. He won reelection, but at the cost of his character.

The irony of the mid-1950s is that one man scared the hell out of the United States government. President Harry Truman could have cut him down in one press conference. He didn't. President Dwight D. Eisenhower had the same opportunity.

He was too frightened to move against Tail-Gunner Joe. The State Department quailed under innuendo. The U.S. Senate listened to that whining voice week after week and took no action. The "Hill" reporters knew that Joe was a fake, but they goaded him on to more and more reckless charges and kept him in the headlines.

He was a man amok. Joe knew, better than anyone, that he had not uncovered one card-carrying communist. He scatter-fired at everyone who raised a voice in feeble protest.

The nation applauded the junior senator. This indeed was his power base. The people were afraid of communism and the Soviet Union. His fury in charging witnesses, his dripping sarcasm interrogating decorated Army officers kindled the hopes of millions that he was about to expose a massive communist plot to take over the government.

He hit booze. The booze hit back. Joe began to slide. When the censure hearings were held in the Senate, he told Roy Cohn, "I felt like a coward. I had to sit there and take it. They back you into a corner and you have to do one of two things. You jump off a roof or you try to stand up like a man and fight your way out."

"I lost without fighting."

What the Senate was doing to McCarthy is precisely the tactic he used in exposing communism. He fought dirty. They did too. Joe tried to hide his drinking by dumping half the contents of bottles of soft drinks and refilling with liquor. He drank a lot of Coke.

At hearings, his headaches were monumental. He was in and out of Bethesda Hospital for vague injuries and illnesses. Doctors told him that his liver was damaged. One drink, they said, would be too many.

McCarthy was sane. He understood his private demons. They were more destructive than he. The senator continued to drink. The man who had ruined so many men was about to destroy himself.

He died at sundown on a leafy Spring day. He was nothing going nowhere. And yet there was one more irony to come. Mrs. McCarthy pushed hard for a state funeral for Joe.

One more time the august Senate truckled to a whim. U.S. Marines carried the flag-draped casket down the center aisle. Two chaplains racked their brains to find virtues to extol.

Among the mourners down front was Richard Nixon. His day of political burial was 19 years away. The Senate covered Joe's empty chair with beautiful blossoms.

I asked a Senate aide, "How could you do it?" He smiled wryly. "A few of the Senators wanted the body brought in to make sure he was dead."...

'Watergate Liddy' May Go Free

WASHINGTON — G. Gordon Liddy, the silent man of the Watergate conspiracy, may soon be set free. Although he won't be eligible for parole until 1981, he has asked the Justice Dept. to commute his sentence. The request, according to our sources, is under "serious consideration."

The tight-lipped Liddy, a tenacious little man with a Groucho Marx mustache and a macho manner, had flair. Once he held his hand over a burning candle to impress friends.

Another time, he pulled out a pistol and shot out a street light so that Sen. George McGovern's presidential headquarters could be observed under proper cover of darkness. As an assistant district attorney, he whipped out a gun in court and fired at the ceiling to dramatize a robbery case. He was a fast draw.

For a merciful brief period, Liddy thought he had been instructed by Jeb Magruder to kill me, a mission whose merit he divined automatically and embraced without "question." Me was on his way to gun me down when he was apprised that he had misunderstood Magruder. Liddy was disturbed over Magruder's imprecision of speech. "Where I come from," he grumbled, "that means a rub-out."

Later, Liddy tried to obtain some exotic poisons from the Central Intelligence Agency to use against me in a more sophisticated plot. "He hates the other side," Richard Nixon said of him.

Liddy was drummed off to prison, mouth shut and head erect, for a 21-year sentence. He became known to his fellow inmates at the Danbury, Conn., penitentiary and the Allen-town, Pa., prison farm as "Watergate Liddy." The prison records show that he has continued his nontalkative ways. A supervisor reported that Liddy "can be relied upon not to talk out of turn or pass on rumors. What he learns in the office stays in the office, and what he learns in the yard stays in the yard."

Liddy won't be eligible for parole until May 1981, after serving eight years, two months. In contrast, the men responsible for Watergate — John Mitchell, H.R. Haldean and John Erlichman — will be eligible for parole after only 30 months in the slammer.

Lesser Watergate figures, such as former Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst, received light, suspended sentences. And, of course, Richard Nixon was pardoned for his White House crimes.

The Justice Dept. has received several letters, meanwhile, urging leniency for Liddy. We have had access to his confidential file.

For instance, Chesterfield Smith, former president of the American Bar Association, wrote: "The sentence given Mr. Liddy ... seems to me to be outrageously out of line with sentences in the federal criminal justice system given to others under similar circumstances." Smith suggested that Liddy received excessive punishment for refusing to squeal on his associates.

Yale law professor Dennis E. Curtis wrote that Liddy's sentence was "so grossly disparate" that it "can only reflect distrust and discontent with our sentencing system." The sentence, he noted, was "more than ten times as great as the sentences received by most of the Watergate group."

The final decision whether to commute Liddy's sentence will be up to President Jimmy Carter, who, in the past, has advocated equal sentences for the same crimes.

Chinese Fallout: A confidential government report accuses the Environmental Protection Agency of failing to protect the public from the radioactive clouds that drifted over the United States last year from out of China.

At the time, we charged that the EPA's warning system broke down and failed to detect the first traces of radioactivity from the Chinese nuclear explosion. We also reported that EPA neglected to warn farmers in advance that the fallout might contaminate milk.

The General Accounting Office has confirmed our story. According to its confidential findings, EPA "as unable to effectively carry out its responsibilities for monitoring radiation levels to determine whether they presented a public hazard." The result, states the report, was "misunderstanding, concern and confusion."

The government investigators also found bureaucratic bungling by both the Energy Research and Development Administration and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. ERDA is responsible for alerting the public to nuclear tests by foreign countries. Yet ERDA never notified the NRC which, therefore, mistakenly concluded that the radioactivity was caused by airborne particles from a nuclear reactor in Pennsylvania.

The NRC, in turn, didn't report the fallout readings to EPA until "five days after the fallout occurred." The agency finally found out about the extent of contamination from Pennsylvania state officials. Not until then did EPA rush out a belated press release.

Teeners Charged With 'Pot'

KINGSTON — Four teenagers were arrested for loitering behind Kingston Hospital Thursday night, and two of them later were charged with possession of marijuana. Released in their parents' custody for further court action were Steven Schmidt, 17, and Vincent Smith, 16, both of Saugerties, and Vincent McDonough and Steven Eling, both 16, of Kingston. All were charged with loitering. Smith was charged with felony marijuana possession, and Schmidt with misdemeanor possession, police said.

Route 9 in Poughkeepsie and Hyde Park was closed until 11 p.m. in order to allow fire companies to mop up the gasoline spill. The tractor trailer was owned by Ernest R. Jacobi, of Fort Edward, who employed Swinton.

The cause of the young UCCC freshman accounting student's death is pending an autopsy being conducted today.

Dutchess County Undersheriff Fred Scoralick said the crash occurred when two cars stopped quickly in front of the truck, which was traveling north. The truck was unable to stop as quickly as the vehicles and tried to go around them, but it struck the rear of the car immediately in front of the truck, pushing that vehicle into the car in front of it. The first car struck by the truck went into the southbound lane and in turn hit a car going south. The truck continued on in the southbound lane and hit the Policano vehicle—a 1976 Ford.

ing the peace, protecting property and enforcing statutes. The position of Sheriff is also administrative, "he adds.

Another campaign issue on Shannon's list is the lack of cooperation between police forces in the county.

Shannon wants to see road patrols cut back in areas where local law enforcement units maintain adequate staffs and thinks that lines of investigative communication could be easily set up between local, state and county police agencies that would aid in investigating crimes and cutting down on duplication of efforts.

"There are other counties in the state where nobody's nose gets out of joint if they're not mentioned in the papers as participating in the investigation," said Shannon.

"There's no reason we can't do that here."

As far as pulling in the votes, Shannon says he expects some strong support from members of both major political parties and doesn't think the fact that he has switched parties make any difference in his effectiveness as a Sheriff.

"I don't believe anyone has ever canvassed the inmates of the county jail on whether they cared" if the Sheriff was Republican or Democrat," he said.

Lawrence Van Vliet, Esopus Planning Board chairman, said earlier studies of the Lloyd-Esopus site by the state and others had raised plant layout alternatives that would give the greatest tax benefits to the Town of Lloyd.

Frederick M. Coppersmith, sitting studies project engineer for Con Edison, saw "no reason" the utility couldn't choose a plant layout that would "optimize" benefits for both towns.

Jane Van DeBogart, Woodstock town councilman and Woodstock Nuclear Opponents member, asked why Con Edison had given up plans to build new nuclear facilities downstate.

Coppersmith said the downstate sites generally are too small, although he conceded that population density "is a consideration" in locating nuclear plants.

Most of the 150 audience members sat quietly through the two-hour hearing, which was structured in procedure and time limit. There was a large contingent of non-residents of Lloyd and Esopus.

One of them, WNO member Joy J. MacNulty of Woodstock, invited the Con Edison representatives to send health and safety experts to a nuclear safety forum set for March 11 at George Washington School in Kingston.

Burial will be in Cedar Park Cemetery, Westwood, N.J.

Charges Rock Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI) — Two charges of high-velocity explosives went off within one minute of each other early today at two downtown locations.

Police and FBI spokesmen said no one claimed responsibility for the bombings, as they have in the past when explosions rocked the city.

"We don't have motive, we don't have people claiming credit for it, we don't have anything else," a police bomb squad officer said.

FBI spokesman Tom Gibbons said it was unusual for a terrorist group to keep silent under such circumstances, but he said it appeared to be the work of such an organization.

"With two of them going off simultaneously, you'd have to assume it's some kind of terrorist group," Gibbons said.

The first explosion occurred at 1:01 a.m. about 20 feet inside an entrance to Chicago's huge Merchandise Mart, in a public locker along a stairway to the second floor.

Windows were blown out all along the southeastern corner of the first and second floors, and in an adjoining Walgreen's Restaurant on the first floor.

"We felt it up here, 19 floors up," said WMAQ radio reporter Walt Hamilton. The local NBC radio and television affiliates have offices in the Mart.

A 1½-inch fire sprinkler pipe ruptured, pouring hundreds of gallons of water through the building and down the stairs. Police bomb squad technician Art Noland said the water, which flowed for more than two hours, probably washed away some of the evidence.

Noland estimated damage to the Mart at $100,000, and said the building might have suffered some structural damage.

"There's gotta be just about $25,000 damage to the windows alone," he said. Bomb squad investigators said the explosives appeared to be left open, not encased in metal or plastic, and probably were not technically bombs.

The second explosion, at the U.S. Gypsum Building, occurred at 1:02 a.m. just outside the personnel office on the ground floor.

Police Capt. Leonard Kody said a package of explosives blew out 15 windows, each one — half-inch thick, on the first and second floors, spewing tinted glass across the plaza next to the building.

Fire Battalion Chief Edwin Williams estimated the damage at $10,000, mostly in glass.

Gulf Gas Producers Probed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interior Department's report on natural gas producers off the Louisiana coast stops short of saying they deliberately held gas off the market. But it points in that direction and has triggered a new probe of all Gulf Coast producers.

Investigators found evidence that almost a trillion cubic feet of gas lies behind "shut-in" wells in just the five fields that were studied. It also found that the flow of gas from active wells in three fields had dropped sharply since 1974.

One member of the survey team suggests "economic incentives" — the hope for gas price decontrol — might lie behind the recent reduced gas flow and failure to put reserves into production.

Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus released the preliminary report Thursday and pledged to "come down very, very hard" on any producers shown in the full-scale investigation to have deliberately withheld fuel.

"I don't think anyone in the Carter administration is willing to take a conciliatory approach to this question," Andrus told a news conference.

Saying he will act after the new investigation to force faster production where necessary, Andrus estimated full production from shut-in wells covered in the initial study could supply some 98 billion cubic feet of gas a year. This winter's gas shortage is estimated at some 2 trillion cubic feet.

The 52-page preliminary report covered Tiger Shoal, Vermilion 250, Grand Isles 43, East Cameron 271 and South Marsh Island 48.

Those fields, representing 10 per cent of all Gulf of Mexico production, are operated by 10 oil companies and feed pipelines serving the areas hardest hit by the winter gas crisis. The companies are Exxon, Pennzoil, Tenneco, Texaco, Phillips, Union, Shell, Gulf, Amoco and Conoco.

In 1974, the report said, there were 188 nonproducing gas reservoirs in the five fields with a total 757.3 billion cubic feet of gas. It said only 19 of those reservoirs had been put into production by the end of 1976.

Some held out of production had been scheduled originally to go on line in 1975 and 1976, but did not, the report said. By December, counting new additions, there were 225 shut-in reservoirs with 981.5 billion cubic feet of proved gas reserves.

Production in three of the four fields had dropped as much as 26.3 per cent a year since 1974, the report said, and by the end of 1976 the combined rate of production was about 60 per cent of what its potential.

"Production at each field could be increased (to the maximum rate) if new wells were drilled into currently producing reservoirs," the report said.

Andrus said the report "raised more questions than it answered."

"Right now it would be difficult for me, or for anyone without a more complete report, to stand before you and say gas was willfully withheld," he said. "If it has been willfully withheld, we'll come down very, very hard."

Amin Terror Campaign Has Killed Hundreds

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — Kenya newspapers said today Uganda President Idi Amin has begun a terror campaign against Christians and hundreds of men, women and children have been killed in northern Uganda by troops using machine guns.

Uganda ignored the world-wide outrage and demands for a high-level and impartial investigation into the deaths Wednesday of the country's black Anglican archbishop and two senior cabinet ministers.

Official Uganda Radio reported the three men, who had been accused of plotting against Amin, were killed in an car crash while trying to escape. Most of the world received the report with horror and skepticism.

The Nairobi newspaper Nation reported mass killings in the north of Uganda and said Amin's troops were using machine guns against men, women and children.

African church leaders, shocked by the violent death of The Most Rev. Janani Luwum, archbishop of Uganda, Burundi and Rwanda, said they feared it was part of an anti-Christian terror campaign ordered by Amin.

The government said the archbishop, Internal Affairs Minister Oboto Obumbo and Land and Water Resources Minister Lt. Col. Erinayo Oryema died en route to interrogation when they tried to overpower their lone guard and driver.

APPRECIATION

I wish to express my deep appreciation and give heartfelt thanks to the entire staff of the Benedictine Hospital for their tender loving care during my recent illness there.

A special thanks to my doctors; Dr. M. Ansari, Dr. A. LoGalbo and Dr. J. Wong. may God bless them one and all.

Peace Looms In NFL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Peace was in prospect on the pro football labor front today with the owners and the players tentatively agreed on a collective bargaining pact featuring a new draft system of college stars and more money and freedom for veterans.

The NFL Players Association and the owners' Management Council withheld details of the new "agreement in principle" until the union members and team owners can study and vote the proposals. But the response from both sides sounded like a sigh of relief that a three-year negotiating dispute would end as soon as the contract was ratified.

"Just coming this far is the best news in pro football in the last decade," Peter Hadzazy, general manager of the Cleveland Browns, said from the management camp. "I think the fans and players will benefit from it. I will make the sport more stable, too."

From the player standpoint, Jim Bakken, veteran St. Louis Cardinal placekicker, commented: "We just had too much to lose to be destroying the continuity of professional, which the dropping of the draft would have caused us."

Ed Garvey, executive director of the union, who made a joint announcement of the big breakthrough with Sargent Karch, executive director of the council, convened the NFLPA's executive council Thursday to be followed by a meeting of the player representatives from each team the following day.

An estimated 750 dues-paying members of the union are to vote on the proposed contract. It also would have to be approved by at least 21 of the 28 owners. Neither side indicated there would be difficulty in obtaining ratification.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle whose powers may be diminished under the new contract said he was "very pleased" at the progress of the negotiations but declined to say anything further until executive bodies of both sides had a chance to meet.

A ruling by U.S. District Judge William B. Bryant last fall striking down the draft as an antitrust violation apparently was the key to ending the three-year deadlock marked by two preseason player strikes and legal battles.

The owners, although appealing Bryant's decision, were confronted with the prospect of having the draft challenged by this year's crop of available college players, including running stars Tony Dorsett and Ricky Bell. Bryant had suggested that a modified draft negotiated by both sides in "arm's length" bargaining might be legally acceptable.

Mike Trope, the young Los Angeles player agent representing both Dorsett and Bell, said he was "relieved and happy something has been worked out" although reserving the right to object after seeing the fine print of the agreement.

"I've always been in favor of a modified draft that is fair and equitable for everyone involved," commented Trope who had warned he would open a league-wide bidding war for his blue-ribbon clients if there was no settlement in sight.

Senators Outlast SCC

LOCH SHELDRAKE — It wasn't as easy as it might have been, but Ulster County Community College slipped past the homestanding Sullivan CC basketball team Thursday night, 73-69.

Only Nassau, a 4-15 team visiting the Stone Ridge campus Saturday night, and Cobleskill are left on the Senators' regular season schedule. Ulster raised its overall mark to 21-6 and 6-4 in the Mid-Hudson Conference.

The Senators nursed a 44-37 disadvantage through halftime, then got back in the game by running off eight straight points in the second half. Sullivan slowly forged out to a 57-52 lead with 6:59 remaining in the game, but Tony Gibson's three-point play and Phil Blount's bucket tied it.

The lead seasawed back and forth until the final 51 seconds when Blount connected on a one and one free throw situation to put Ulster up by three, 70-67. Jeff Johnson repeated Blount's feat for a five-point lead, then Jeff White gave Sullivan a basket to make it 72-69. With 19 seconds left, Ulster held the ball until Ray Younger was fouled in the act of shooting at the buzzer. He sank one free throw to make it 73-69.

Ulster outscored Sullivan, now 10-12, 36-25 in the second half. "We played a little better defense," said Ulster coach Mike Perry. "We played more zone. Gibson, Leon Ware and Johnson did a good job for us."

Blount was Ulster's top scorer with 15 points and added seven rebounds. Gibson had 11 points and eight caroms. Ware 12 points and Corey Chambers six rebounds. The Senators shot 53 per cent, 29 of 55.

George Abrams led Sullivan with 20, Jeff White had 15 and Moses Dinkins 14.

Pike in Mirror Lake

KINGSTON — Ulster County sportsmen received good news this week when it was confirmed that 370 Great Northern Pike — one of the most coveted varieties of game fish — will be stocked in Mirror Lake in the Town of Esopus.

Word of the decision came from the Department of Environmental Conservation's New Paltz office and the Federation of Sportsmen in Ulster County and the Ulster County Legislature.

The pike figure to prosper locally because of the temperature and depth of the lake and its closeness to a swampy spawning area. They are expected to grow from their stocking size of 11 to 16 inches to an eventual 18 to 22 inches next fall. The Federation says it will ask fishermen to throw back fish less than 22 inches during the first year.

All fishing in Mirror Lake will have to be accomplished in boats and canoes since the surrounding land is privately owned, but that isn't expected to hold down the large numbers of sportsmen eager to try their luck at securing the fish.

The pike will be purchased for stocking at $3.75 each with funds coming from the Ulster County Legislature. Stocking is expected to take place in April.

Flyers Perform Ice Magic

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — New York Rangers Coach John Ferguson says he would have needed "a golden wand" to stop what the Philadelphia Flyers did with their wooden sticks Thursday night.

Actually, the Flyers looked like mere mortals for the first 18 minutes of their 7-1 win over the New York Rangers.

Then Philadelphia's Rick MacLeish began the explosion that blew the Rangers off the ice.

"The second period was our best of the year," said Flyers Coach Fred Shero, who recorded his 250th NHL win. "Things fell in place for us. We were moving at the right times and arriving at the right times. We could have beaten anybody in the world. We could have destroyed anybody."

"Otherwise," he added, "it was a pretty even game."

"You would have to have a golden wand to stop the Flyers here tonight," Ferguson said. "This is a pretty tough rink to play in. They seem to do everything right here."

Reggie Leach gave the Flyers a 1-0 lead at 4:09 of the first period with a 25-foot shot but the Rangers' Carol Vadnais tied the game with a power play goal at 10:13.

Eight minutes later, MacLeish put the Flyers ahead to stay with his first goal of the night.

Mel Bridgman added another at 19:30 of the period. Orest Kindrachuk made it 4-1 at 2:33 of the second period with a 20-foot shot off beleaguered New York goalie John Davidson's glove. MacLeish picked up his second goal of the night three minutes later after taking a pass from Ross Lonsberry.

With 9:32 gone in the final period, Don Saleski closed out the scoring.

The win put the Flyers in the mood to look ahead to Saturday night's showdown with the Canadiens in Montreal.

"I think you'll see a different game Saturday night at Montreal," said goalie Bernie Parent, who picked up his 200th win. "We've got the momentum going now and that means a lot entering the home stretch."

Barons Voting

RICHFIELD (UPI) — The majority of the Cleveland Barons were not expected to suit up for tonight's game against the Colorado Rockies without some new salary guarantees from Mel Swig, owner of the financially-troubled franchise.

"Tomorrow morning at our pregame skate, we will have a closed vote on playing tomorrow night," player representative Bob Stewart said Thursday night. "If things go the way they did today, there probably won't be a hockey team available to play tomorrow night."

Swig did not meet his Jan. 31 player payroll until Wednesday when he finally got financial backing from the National Hockey League. An offer for the franchise from Sanford Greenberg, part owner of the NHL's Washington Capitals and owner of the Coliseum where the Barons and the National Basketball Association Cleveland Cavaliers play, was rejected by Swig Tuesday.

Stewart said he intended to talk with NHL Players Association chief Alan Eagleson and Swig by telephone prior to the vote.

"Right now the majority of players have decided that they will not dress for tomorrow night," He said. "That is not definite. I still have to communicate with Eagleson and Swig about this."

stretch.

"Every one of the our lines is playing real well and our defense is stopping the shots," MacLeish said.

The Flyers have two new defensemen. They picked up Rick LaPointe and Mike Corney Thursday night from the Detroit Red Wings in exchange for defenseman Terry Murray and three minor league players.

Elsewhere in the NHL, Detroit tied Toronto 2-2, Washington tied Minnesota 4-4 and Atlanta edged Los Angeles 4-3.

In the World Hockey Association, New England topped Phoenix 4-2 and Winnipeg downed Indianapolis by the same score.

Red Wings 2, Maple Leafs 2

Bill Lhead's goal with less than five minutes to play gave Detroit its tie. Five minutes earlier Al Cameron had scored the Red Wings' first goal. Stan Weir got Toronto's goals 14 seconds apart in the last minute of the first period.

Capitals 4, North Stars 4

Ron Lalonde's second goal of the game with less than five minutes to play boosted Washington into the tie. The Capitals, who outshot Minnesota 40-28, also got goals from Hartland Monahan and Billy Collins. Roland Eriksson and Glen Sharpley each scored his 20th goal for the North Stars.

Flames 4, Kings 3

Curt Bennett deflected in one power play goal with his skate after assisting on another as Atlanta downed Los Angeles for its first win at the Forum in 11 tries. Marcel Dionne scored his 36th goal for the Kings.

WHA

Tom Webster's 27th goal broke a 2-2 tie and boosted the Whalers past the Roadrunners...and Mats Lindh scored two goals and Willy Lindstrom one within a 59-second span in the second period to give the Jets their win over the Racers.

In DCSL Playoffs

Large Schools Dominate

KINGSTON—The first night of the Dutchess County Scholastic League's new playoff format completely belonged to the large schools of Division I as they swept all three games from Division II opponents.

In the game matching third-place teams, Roosevelt had little trouble solving Saugerties' new strategies and won going away, 88-61; Kingston had a 32-point fourth quarter and ran away from Spackenkill, 83-64, in the battle of fourth-place finishers at Kate Walton Field House; and Ketcham ripped Lourdes, 97-72, in the fifth-place tilt.

The playoffs climax tonight with runners-up Arlington and Beacon meeting at 6:30 p.m. and division winners John Jay and Poughkeepsie checking in at 8 p.m. in a doubleheader at Dutchess Community College.

KHS fell behind after a lethargic first half, 33-31, but when coach Mike Rienzo installed a full court press, it seemed to awaken the Tigers and they outscored the Spartans, 20-16 in the third to go ahead, 51-49. Their first lead was with 2:09 remaining in that quarter, 47-45, following Larry Walkowski's bucket. He had eight points and Jay Foust and Bobby Easter six each in the third, with the latter scoring all six in a hurry at the front of the period.

The Tigers exploded for 10 straight points on baskets by Easter, Foust, two by Ron Mapes and another by Easter and it began a 16-2 tear in the fourth quarter that sewed up the victory.

Foust, who had 12 of his team's first 17 points, finished with a game high 27, Easter had 15, Walkowski 14 and Darrell Mills 12. Mills also passed for 11 assists, his second-highest single game total, Easter had another six, Foust pulled down 13 rebounds and Walkowski eight of the Tigers' total of 41.

In winning their eighth game of the last 12, the Tigers evened their overall mark at 8-8 and pushed their league mark to 7-6. They face Mahopac Wednesday, 7 p.m., at the Field House in a Section On tournament game.

Saugerties coach Dick Colavita, still smarting from the 89-61 licking handed his team by John Jay Tuesday night, decided to try some different maneuvers on the court. "I tried some different things I shouldn't have," he said.

"They backfired and I take complete blame," Colavita added. "I wanted to try a man to man press on defense and rotate nine or 10 guys into the lineup, but Roosevelt was just beating our defense. By the time we went back to try something else, we went flat."

His new strategem did not work out on offense, either. "I tried something different," he said. "We put Marc Becker on the low post, but then we had a lack of movement on offense. By the time I changed, nothing was clicking."

Roosevelt blew out the Sawyers with a 30-14 first quarter, led 49-32 at halftime, and outscored SHS by 10 over the second half. Scott Divine of FDR led all scorers with 22 half. Rick Horton of FDR led all scorers with 23, Scott Divine added 22 and Jero Smith 18 for the Presidents.

Chris Swach paced the Sawyers with 15 and Tim Cole added 14. A measure of Colavita's frustration at his offensive doings can be measured by the Sawyers shooting effectiveness—just 38 per cent, 23 of 61. By contrast, FDR hit on 53 per cent, 39 of 74.

Saugerties fell to 8-10 overall and 6-8 in the league. It will play at Harrison Wednesday in its sectional game.

WRESTLING TOURNEYS

Kingston Favored in DCSL

BEACON — Kingston High School will be favored to defend its title this weekend at the annual Dutchess County Scholastic League tournament to be held at the Roundabout School.

The action will begin today with weigh-ins at 3:30 p.m. and preliminary bouts and quarterfinals beginning at 5 p.m. Weigh-ins are at 9 a.m. Saturday with semifinals from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. followed by wrestlebacks until 3 p.m. Consolation finals for third through sixth places will run from 4 to 6 p.m. with the championship finals slated to start at 6 p.m.

Eleven teams will be in the field with seven squads from the Mid Hudson Conference and Pine Plains, Rhinebeck, Beacon and Spackenkill from the Bi-Valley Conference.

Kingston finished the dual meet season in a tie with John Jay and will go into the tourney with six top seeded wrestlers. KHS also has three No. 2 seeds, and coach Dean Short is hoping to get them all into the finals.

Last year, Kingston won the tournament title after tying Saugerties in the dual meet season.

Kingston's six wrestlers who earned top seeding include Louis Hamer at 91 pounds, Greg Manuel at 98, Phil Brown at 119, Emile Jordan at 126, Doug Reedy at 132 and either Jeff Kaplan or Phil Razy in the three-man 250-pound weight class. The Tigers rated No. 2 are Herb Peterson at 105, Mike Manuel at 138 and Craig Turner at 215.

Saugerties has top seeds in Tom Carr at 112 and Lars Hauck at 177 and a second seed in Ray Ackerman at 132.

Can Red Hook Take NP's Crown?

NEW PALTZ — Defending champion New Paltz High will host the Ulster County Athletic League wrestling tournament Saturday with the finals slated to start at 7 p.m.

The Hugies swamped the competition last year, claiming eight individual titles and far outdistancing second place Red Hook. This year, though, Red Hook has the favorite's role after winning the league with an unblemished dual meet record.

Weigh-ins will take place from 8:30 to 9 a.m. and the preliminary round will begin at 10 a.m. Quarterfinals will go from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., semifinals will be run from 3 to 4:30 p.m., and consolations will start at 6 p.m.

Admission is $3 for adults and $2 for students for all day. For the finals only, adults are $2 and students are $1. UCAL passes will not be honored at the gate. The school cafeteria will be open all day.

Though the Huguenots finished fourth in the league with a 5-3 record, it cannot be counted out as a team title contender. "Our kids are looking forward to it," said NPHS coach Kemble Matter. "We place an awful lot of emphasis on it and we like our kids to look their sharpest."

"The kids have been pushing hard for the tournament and bee have been receptive to what I've asked."

Exactly how many individual champions does Matter expect to have Saturday night? "Fourteen," he laughed. "Seriously, the kids walk out on that mat—and anybody can beat anybody on any given day—it's just a one-day tournament. If you don't believe me, just ask Dan Gable."

Joe Holds Firm

Joe Morgan, two-time National League most valuable player, has sent a message to the Cincinnati Reds: Don't look for him when spring training opens March 2 if he hasn't come to contract terms by then.

"I won't be there if I'm not signed," the Reds' second baseman declared Thursday....

The San Francisco Giants have signed two-time batting king Bill Madlock, to a five-year pact estimated to call for approximately $1-million....

The San Diego Padres Wednesday re-acquired third baseman Dave Roberts from the expansion Toronto Blue Jays in exchange for veteran righthanded relief pitcher Jerry Johnson....

Philadelphia 76ers center Caldwell Jones, suffering from a possible wrist fracture, may be out for the season, a team spokesman said. Jones was to be re-examined today by team physician Dr. Joseph Torg to determine the extent of the injury he suffered in the 76ers' Wednesday night 117-113 win over the Buffalo Braves....

The New York Jets offered a slight concession Thursday on their conditions for remaining in Shea Stadium for the coming football season, but have toughened their stance on use of the ballpark in future years. The Jets apparently remained far from an accord with the New York Mets that would avert a threatened move by the football team to the New Jersey Meadowlands stadium. Jets' President Leon Hess phoned Mayor Abraham Beame Thursday and offered to forego use of Shea for a 1977 exhibition game, provided the team be allowed to use the stadium for two regular season games during the baseball season with no proviso for a postponement because of rain, a source close to the Jets said....

Fifth-seeded Rosie Casals registered a mild surprise Thursday night by upending third-seeded Virginia Wade, 6-3, 6-3, in a quarterfinal match of the $100,000 Virginia Slims Tennis Tournament in Los Angeles....

Joe Roth, one of the top collegiate quarterbacks in the country last season until struck down by injuries and a malignant growth on his body, was readmitted to the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco for tests and treatment Feb. 10. He was sent home Thursday, but doctors said his condition was still "serious"....

Rick Barry of the Golden State Warriors returned to Oakland Thursday and will miss at least two more games because of an injury he suffered in last weekend's National Basketball Association all-star game. Barry suffered a hip pointer when he dived for a loose ball....

Steve Caution, the 16-year-old apprentice riding sensation, continued his torrid streak at Aqueduct Thursday, bringing home three winners for the third consecutive day to boost his winning mounts to 13 in four days....

Curtis Williams says his Munson, Fla., High basketball team still has an optimistic outlook — even after losing 90 games in a row. The high school, located in a community of 500 in the rural Florida Panhandle, last won a basketball game in January 1972. "When I took the job (last season), the principal told me it would take two years of rebuilding, at least," said Coach Williams. "Our boys' spirits are pretty high. We're trying to get some self confidence in them. We graduate only one boy from this team. We ought to get some help from our B-team (which has a 3-16 record)." Several Munson players, who had a tendency to miss practices, quit the team earlier this season. One, said Williams, missed 15 of the first 30 practices while another cut 14....

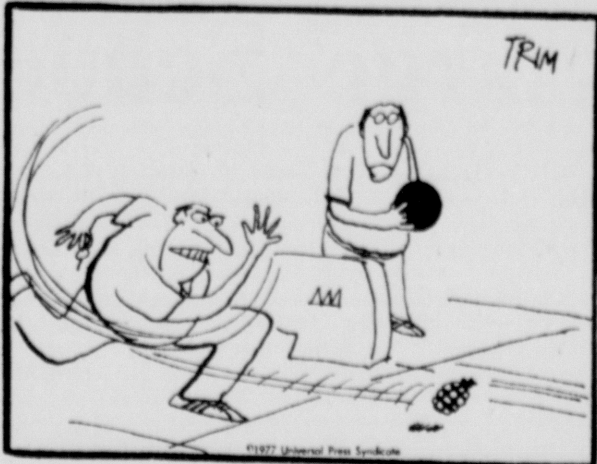

Wayne Granger, rated the top relief pitcher in the National League back in 1969-1970, Thursday signed as a free agent with the Atlanta Braves....

Vito "Babe" Parilli, a veteran of 21 years as both player and coach in the pro football ranks, was named Thursday as quarterback coach for the Denver Broncos....

Second baseman Gary Sutherland, obtained last summer from Detroit in the trade for Pedro Garcia, was given his unconditional release Thursday by the Milwaukee Brewers....

W. E. (Slew) Hester, Jr., of Jackson, Miss., winner of more than 500 trophies at national, sectional and state levels of tennis competition, has been elected president of the United States Tennis Association....

Kingston Gymnasts Split With PHS, Arlington

POUGHKEEPSIE—Kingston High's girls gymnastics team escaped with a split in a double dual meet Thursday evening, besting Poughkeepsie, 58.4-44.1, but losing to three-event winner Arlington, which garnered 77.2 points.

Kingston's Mary Jo Murphy won the vaulting with a score of 6.7 but Arlington took the parallel bars, balance beam and floor exercise. Admirals Karen Baldwin, Laura Munger and Kelly Sawyer were the respective event winners.

Lynne Kemble of KHS was another placer, finishing second in the floor exercise with a 6.7 score.

"We had good performances from Barb Shaw and Sue Osborne in the parallel bars and Lynne Kemble did very well in the floor exercise for us," said KHS coach Kathy Hatt. "We were a little weak in the balance beam."

"I was hoping we'd beat Poughkeepsie," she added. "Arlington always has a strong team."

The split gives KHS a 3-8 overall record and 3-7 mark in the Dutchess County Scholastic League.

KHS will participate in both the novice and open meets Saturday at John Jay High School.

Michigan Still Has to Prove Itself

By UPI

Michigan should be excused if it feels a bit frustrated.

The fourth-ranked Wolverines, never out of first place in the Big Ten race since the season began, still have to keep proving their right to the top rung against No. 15 Minnesota. Michigan will have to do it again on Saturday, but Minnesota has other ideas for the conference's biggest game of the year.

"We're back to where we were a week ago Monday," coach Johnny Orr said, referring to Michigan's 86-80 victory at Minneapolis, which knocked Minnesota out of a tie for first place. Saturday the two teams meet on the Michigan court and once again Minnesota can take first place if it wins.

Michigan routed Iowa 91-80 Thursday night to run its league record to 12-2 and its overall record to 19-3 while Minnesota, with a 19-2 overall mark, whipped Michigan State 99-77 for an 11-2 Big Ten record.

Michigan has lost to Northwestern and Indiana and Minnesota to Michigan and Purdue in Big Ten play.

Minnesota beat Iowa Saturday so coach Lute Olson of the Hawkeyes was in position to predict the outcome of Saturday's Gophers-Wolverines contest.

"I would pick Minnesota," he said, "except for the fact it will be their seventh game in 14 days and I think that will work against them. That makes it awfully tough."

Minnesota coach Jim Dutcher, whose team played sloppily with 21 turnovers in beating Indiana Monday, saw a brighter future after the decision over the Spartans. "It was a different kind of game than what we have played before," he said. "I would say we got the ball to (Mike) Thompson better."

Thompson, the Big Ten's leading scorer with a 23.5 per game average, scored 26 points and teammate Ray Williams 28 against Michigan State while Michigan had six players in double figures, led by Rickey Green and Phil Hubbard with 18 each.

Elsewhere, it was No. 3 UCLA 89 Oregon State 76, No. 14 Arizona 64 Brigham Young 62, No. 17 Notre Dame 80 Manhattan 76, and No. 18 Syracuse 70 Rhode Island 47. Jim Spillane paced UCLA with 21 points, followed by David Greenwood with 20 and Roy Hamilton with 18. The Bruins, who made 60.3 per cent of their shots from the field, led 46-45 at the half, but broke the game open midway through the second half.

Toby Knight scored 27 points and grabbed 14 rebounds as Notre Dame rallied from a seven-point deficit early in the second half to beat Manhattan. The Irish tied the scored 54-54 on Dave Batton's jump shot 5:45 into the second half and went ahead for good 56-54 27 seconds later on another Batton jumper. Don Williams added 19 points for Notre Dame.

Roosevelt Bowie and Lewis Orr scored 15 points each and Syracuse confused Rhode Island with a tough zone defense. Syracuse led 12-11 midway through the first half, then scored 17 of the next 19 points.

Also, it was Illinois 73 Indiana 69, Purdue 90 Ohio State 61, Texas AM 79 Rice 61, Lafayette 79 Fordham 66, and Oregon 60 Southern California 57.

No Surprises in UCAL Girls Cage Loop

KINGSTON—The have and the have-nots...and guess which group of girls varsity basketball teams continued to win Ulster County Athletic League games Thursday night?

With the exception of the Wallkill-Ellenville contest, a matchup of two competitive teams, the UCAL games went pretty much as expected. Wallkill defeated Ellenville, 58-47, to stay within one and one-half games of unbeaten Red Hook, which whopped a young Marlboro team, 60-22.

In other games, Coleman stayed on top of the National division with a 79-12 romp over Rondout Valley's second-year team; Onteora dumped Highland, another two-year program, 40-23; and Fallsburgh ripped New Paltz, 52-23.

Chris Mihm's Panthers got untracked in the third quarter, after taking a 22-19 halftime lead, and outscored the Blue Devils, 20-14 as star center Cindy Birdsall hit 10 of her 19 points mostly from the middle. Birdsall and teammate Mary Connors each had 19 points and 10 rebounds and Kathy Morrissey added 12 points. Cynthia Thompson led Ellenville with 15.

"Cold shooting and too many turnovers," is how Ellenville coach Marge Collins summed up her team's problems.

Powerful Red Hook had no trouble winning its 36th consecutive league game, zapping Marlboro with a 14-4 first quarter and 26-4 fourth quarter. Kelly Mosher again led the Raiders with 23 points. Sandy Stash contributed 12 points and 19 rebounds and Pat Kowalski added eight points and 15 rebounds. Denise Sevigny also had 15 points and Ellen Tuohy had four assists. "We just can't generate any offense," said Marlboro coach Jerry Wall. "The girls don't have much experience."

The Ducks' leading scorer was Erin Davis with eight. Luanne Hennkens had 11 rebounds. The home-standing Ducks had only two free throw attempts while the Raiders had 15, sinking just two. After an even first quarter, Onteora wrapped up its game with a 15-2 second quarter as Tami Beahm scored five of her game-high 11 points. Gail Duffy had a total of eight points for OCS and Highland was paced by Dawn Lipinski with 10.

early foul trouble and our offense was not working well," noted Highland's Toni Hewitt. It was the Indians' third straight win.

Coleman's Kathy Mahoney used her one-hand push shot to lead the Stateswomen with 18 points and she also pulled down 16 rebounds. Catherine Blum had 14 points and seven assists, Kathy Turk 14 points and Janet Knott exploded for 21 points and 20 rebounds.

RVC was led by Dawn Sparling and Paul Guillon four points each.

Coleman's win made it 6-2, two games ahead of Fallsburgh in the National Division and three ahead of Ellenville.

Division I Going Down to the Wire

KINGSTON—It's down to nailbiting time for varsity basketball coaches in Division I of the Ulster County Athletic League. With Marlboro, Fallsburgh and Liberty tied for the top spot at 11-3, it's anybody's pennant.

Thus the Liberty at Fallsburgh clash tonight takes on added importance, with a win by one probably knocking the loser out of the pennant chase. In other UCAL games, Ellenville is at Marlboro, Red Hook is at New Paltz and Highland is at Coleman. The Pine Bush-Rondout Valley and Wallkill-Onteora tilts originally scheduled for tonight have been postponed to Thursday.

Fallsburgh has won three straight and seven of its last eight. The Comets earlier defeated the Indians, 45-39. They face Coleman in their final game—but the Statesmen were the last team to beat them, back on Feb. 4.

Marlboro is in big trouble, having lost two straight and three of its last four. Supposedly, Ellenville is a breather, but don't tell that to Liberty or Fallsburgh, teams that just edged out the Blue Devils by one point in their recent meetings.

Red Hook, of course, has sewed up Division II with 10 straight wins and is expected to have little trouble with New Paltz. Highland, which upset Marlboro Wednesday night after three straight losses, faces a Coleman squad it barely beat, 65-64, on Feb. 2.

In other local action today, Brockport State is at New Paltz for a college basketball game; Rondout Valley goes to Red Hook in scholastic gymnastics; Ulster County Community College's wrestlers are at Fulton-Montgomery; Onteora High's skiers host Ellenville.

Make your best deal on a new Pacer, Pacer Wagon, or Hornet Wagon and AMC will make it $253 better.

We've extended our $253 Cash Rebate on Pacers and Pacer Wagons and expanded it to include Hornet Wagons.

Now you can get a $253 Cash Rebate on your choice of three great cars. The wide and roomy Pacer. The all-new Pacer Wagon. Or the hard-working, sportily styled Hornet Wagon.

And you've got until March 10 to make your choice. All you have to do is pick your car and make your best deal with your AMC Dealer. AMC will send you the $253.

Or you can apply the $253 to the down payment. After you've made your best deal, of course.

The $253 Cash Rebate offer is good on all new 1976 and 1977 AMC Pacers, Pacer Wagons and Hornet Wagons delivered from dealer stock by March 10 or ordered by February 10.

Sorry, but no fleet sales or overseas military purchases are included.

Witness Called In Nun's Trial

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — A Roman Catholic nun charged with suffocating her newborn boy later said she lost recollection of events shortly after giving birth, a witness testified Thursday.

Sister Maureen Murphy, 36, is accused of first-degree manslaughter in the non-jury trial in Monroe County Court.

According to the prosecution, the tiny, brown-haired member of the Sisters of St. Joseph order choked her baby boy to death last April 27 by stuffing an undergarment into his mouth, shortly after bearing the child in Our Lady of Lourdes parish convent.

Sister Barbara Kuhn, testifying for the prosecution, said she discussed the birth with the defendant in September of last year.

The witness said Sister Murphy told her that "the child was born in a bathroom at the convent and she remembered bringing him to her room afterward."

"But she also said she couldn't remember anything after bringing the child to her room," Sister Kuhn added later, while under cross-examination by defense attorney Charles Crimi.

Sister Kuhn was one of six nuns called to the witness stand during the day by assistant district attorney Joseph Valentino.

At one point, the defendant broke down and cried quietly as Valentino produced an orange wicker basket in which the infant's body allegedly was found.

She pulled out a handkerchief and dabbed her eyes and nose as Sister Kathleen Carroll, a witness, identified the basket as the one which had contained the baby.

Govt. Bigwigs Get $13,000 Raise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the end, it was a vote to adjourn the House for a three-day weekend that finally ensured a $13,000-a-year raise for Congress and top government executives will take effect Sunday.

Recommended by Gerald Ford before he left office, the increase will raise annual pay for an estimated 2,496 top-level government employees including federal judges, Cabinet members, the vice president, congressmen and two former presidents by an average 28 per cent.

The raise takes effect automatically Sunday because neither the Senate nor the House voted against it.

The Senate, recessed all week, earlier tabled a resolution disapproving the pay hike, thereby avoiding an up or down vote on the raise. The House completed business Thursday and adjourned until Monday without bringing up the disapproval resolution.

House opponents, irritated by the Democratic leadership's refusal to push for a vote on a disapproval resolution and unable to secure the vote through normal means, attempted a symbolic protest Thursday.

Although Speaker Thomas O'Neill branded the move "high schoolish," the House initially voted 224-109 against adjournment.

But the leaders said they would not bring up the resolution even if the House stayed in session all weekend, and opponents eventually realized "there's nothing to be gained by staying here," as Rep. John Ashbrook, R-Ohio, put it. They agreed to a unanimous consent request to adjourn until Monday.

One of the stipulations voiced by President Ford and later by President Carter, was that any substantial pay raise should be coupled with a strict code of ethics. The hope for Congress was that outside income such as honoraria and legal fees would be outlawed.

Committees in both the House and Senate are working on ethics codes, and stronger regulations on income sources and financial disclosure appeared likely.

The raises are the product of a 1967 law creating the Commission on Executive, Legislative and Judicial Salaries — a group of private citizens convened quadrennially for a few months to make recommendations on government pay. The President then has the power to scale down the recommendations which take effect automatically unless either the Senate or House disapproves.

Salaries for the vice president, chief justice, speaker and Senate president pro tem will be increased from $65,600 to $74,000; Cabinet members and Supreme Court justices from $63,000 to $66,000; majority and minority leaders of Congress from $52,000 to $65,000; members of Congress, deputy and assistant secretaries and appeals court judges from $44,600 to $57,500; federal judges and level 3 executives from $42,000 to $52,500.

Because the pensions of former presidents are pegged to the salaries of Cabinet officers, Nixon and Ford also get a $3,000 raise.

'Can This Patient Be Saved' Is Topic

Nurses Schedule Reorganization Tea

Mildred Streib, recording secretary, and Rhona Semilof, corresponding secretary of District 11, Ulster-Greene county chapter of the New York State Nurses Association, check over plans with Ida Ferraro for her talk Thursday, Feb. 24, at the reorganizational membership tea. Miriam Ostrander, district treasurer, will take phone reservations which will be helpful but not essential.

KINGSTON—"Your Professional Group: Can This Patient Be Saved?" is the principal topic of the District 11, New York State Nurses Association membership tea planned for Thursday, Feb. 24, 7:15 p.m. in the Benedictine Senior Residence Auditorium, Kingston.

The tea will serve as the first step in the reorganization of the local district, according to Rhona Semilof of Hurley, district corresponding secretary. All Ulster County registered nurses are invited.

Mrs. Semilof and a special committee have evolved a tentative two-year plan to restructure the organization for the purposes of professional activities and informational services. Additional teas will be announced shortly. Approximately 2,000 registered nurses in Ulster and Greene Counties are eligible for membership. The committee includes Miriam Ostrander of Kingston, district treasurer, and Jeanne Bingham of Tillsen, program chairperson.

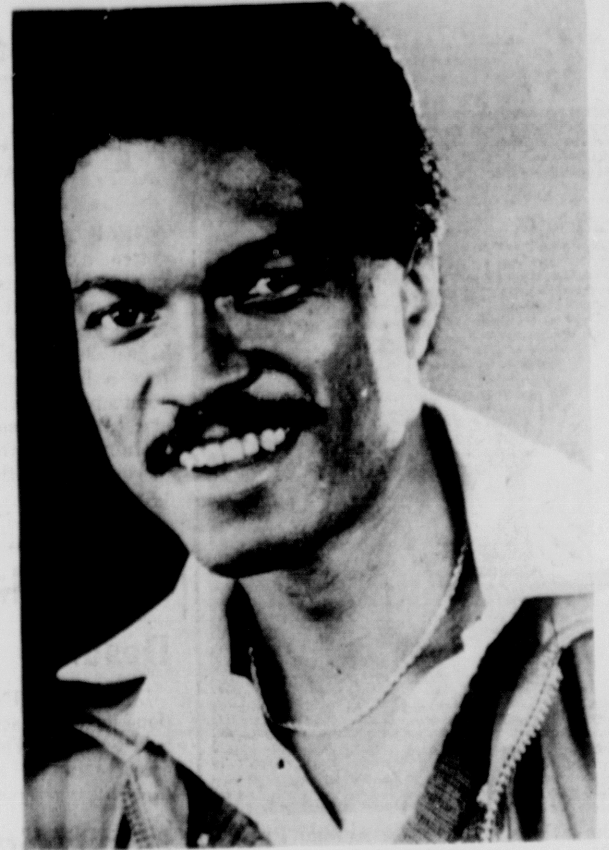

Topping the agenda will be a discussion of the proposed re-licensure requirements concerning continuing education. These requirements could mean that both non-active nurses and those presently practicing would have to complete a minimum number of contact hours in order to renew their licenses. Mrs. Semilof will announce plans for district members to receive special tuition discounts for continuing nursing education at both Ulster County Community College and ColumbiaGreene Community College. Accredited seminars to take place at District meetings will also be discussed.

Speakers at the tea will include Ida Ferraro, assistant director of nursing at Benedictine Hospital. She will reflect on changes in the profession during her 35 years as an association member. Elaine Levine, general manager of Tri-City Nurses Registry, will talk about private duty nurses, their fees and roles, past and present.

Additional tentative plans include publication of a district newsletter. Topics would include continuing education programs, inservice programs, other health programs within the district, news from the state legislature, job openings, profiles in nursing, professional tips and meeting notices. The initial printing, planned for August, would be mailed to all nurses in the District 11 area. Subsequent issues would be sent to members only.

Another plan calls for obtaining lower malpractice insurance rates for members.

"Everything depends on how many nurses come to this meeting and show they are interested in revitalizing their professional organization," says Mrs. Semilof. Reservations for the Feb. 24 membership tea are requested but not essential. A second tea is planned for Wednesday evening, March 2, at the Greene County Memorial Home, Catskill.

Billy Dee Williams

The Black Clark Gable

By MARIAN CHRISTY

NEW YORK—Dashing Billy Dee Williams, often called the black Clark Gable, is slouched on a leather couch near a glass wall that gives a spectacular backdrop of the Manhattan skyline. Billy Dee, a product of Harlem, a man whose mother was an elevator operator and whose father is still a janitor, is laughing at his rarefied image of matinee idol, extraordinary playboy, virile fashionable.

"It's very funny," says Billy Dee, who's chewing gum and puffing cigarettes. "Actually I go into hysterics with these labels. All I am is a walking absurdity," continues Billy Dee while slapping a broad chest encased in a skin-tight T-shirt that melts into jeans. "Are these the clothes of a lady killer?" he asks with a smile.

Billy Dee, a high school graduate who owns a $120,000 house-with-pool in the best section of Hollywood, says he prefers to consider himself as the prototype black man who can achieve success. He says the "lover boy image" has been "laid" on him. "I wanted to achieve self-realization badly," he says.

"I made myself believe that in me, as in every man, there is a kingdom. Once you get straightened out inside, the external forces aren't defeating. You sort of get over that ghetto melancholy," says Billy Dee, who is into Buddhism and Zen.

On one hand, there's a strain of vanity about the man who reeks Dior perfume, drives a Mercedes 450 SE, needs bodyguards to fend off frenzied females. He will be 40, was born April 6, 1937. "Aw," he says, "I don't look 39. I don't feel 39. I was an old man when I was 20. Now I feel younger than 39."

On the other hand there's a humility and sensitivity about the man. When he was 17, his father expressed a dream to go to Texas to visit his mother. Billy Dee not only insisted that his father take the trip — he filled in as his father's substitute janitor.

"Finally I understood my father's frustration," he says. "I learned first-hand what life was like behind a broom. But I was happy to do something to keep his spirit alive."

Billy Dee has a probing mind. He describes himself as "continuously curious". He says he'd never go to a psychiatrist. It's far better that he overcome his own traumas. "Hell," he chides, "why should I talk to some stranger who doesn't have a clue about the experiences I'm talking about? Why, I'd be a damn fool!"

He's one of Hollywood's first black matinee idols and is married to a Japanese-American, Teruko. "If there are racial problems, it's in the eye of the beholder," he says. They have a 2-year-old daughter, Hanako, and each has a child by a former marriage — his son, Corey, 15; her daughter, Miyalo, 14. "We love our children," he says.

"Beauty is important," he says about female qualities that fascinate him. "But I like a woman who has intelligence, personality and a deep sense of independence. A woman should be committed beyond the immediacy of self-indulgence."

The implication of chauvinism pervades the conversation. He says his marriage to Teruko is secure because: "I'm the classic male—provider, a father-figure, a friend, a lover. That automatically makes me the dominant force in this partnership."

Teruko, whose Oriental background is steeped in the concept of "natural submissiveness" to the male, apparently is a good balance for Billy Dee who is, to quote him, "mercurial."

They were "just friends" until the day they went to one of his movies together. "And there I was on screen," he says, "big as life, looking good, doing my thing. After the movie, she turned around and looked at me with new eyes. She said: 'Billy Dee, you're a king.' Soon after, we had a deep discussion about power and authority. Power is a potent aphrodisiac."

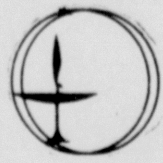

The marital route hasn't been totally blissful. Occasionally there are emotional explosions. But Billy Dee says Teruko "seethes quietly" — even when her anger is so overwhelming that it wracks her body and causes her to shake visibly.

"When Teruko expresses rage to me, it is very, very gently. She knows that uncontrolled wrath can annihilate a relationship. One of the reasons I love this woman is that she does nothing to destroy me."

Billy Dee, who has been labeled "too black" for white movie producers and "too light"-skinned for black movies, has tried to make himself more black by using a sun lamp regularly. Billy Dee, who says blacks should be proud to be blacks, sometimes thinks of himself in the Roman context.

He has a peacock stance and: "I'm Italian by nature," he insists.

More about himself: "When I was in high school, I never spoke to anybody except when it was absolutely necessary," he says. "I was terribly withdrawn. My hero was Marlon Brando. I couldn't seem to find my place in this world. I've discovered my identity. I'm Billy Dee Williams," concludes Billy Dee Williams.

Unitarian Fellowship of Ulster County

99 Henry St., Kingston

In the Church School it is our task to show our children what is good and guide them in the ways to attain it.

OUR GOALS — that you don't kill, you affirm peace — are opposed to persecution.

THE BROTHERHOOD OF MAN — that all races are our brothers and equal to us in every particular without reservation.

A SENSE OF BELONGING IN THE UNIVERSE — belonging to the family of man with a responsibility to the welfare and happiness of all. We are part of the Earth and should the Earth die, then we die. This is their beautiful home — now.

A SENSE OF IDENTITY — OF PERSONAL WORTH AND SELF ESTEEM — by affirming each child's PERSONALITY. He will be allowed to be different in class if he wants to. He will be respected as a person.

A SENSE OF HISTORY — and of the great tradition of our religion.

THE VALUE OF LIBERTY — liberty of conscience and liberty to explore beyond the spiritual horizon of their fathers and to allow others the same liberty. The liberty to ask any question and to disagree with their teachers.

TO LEARN TO ACCEPT THEIR NATURAL LIMITATIONS — such as the limits of their physical and intellectual powers; the inevitability of suffering that goes with living and living and the inevitability of their own deaths.

TO ACCEPT LOVE AND TO GIVE LOVE.

Who Me?

"Click II" is the title of the Second Annual Photographic Exhibition sponsored by the Marbletown Artists' Association at Christ the King Church, Rt. 213, Stone Ridge, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, Feb. 19, 20 and 21, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. A reception will be held tonight at 7:30 when the public may meet the artists. Frank Stella's questioning subject is one of the large selection of prints by area photographers.

Weekend

American Music Slated at Paltz

NEW PALTZ—An afternoon of American Music will be presented by the Mid-Hudson Music Study Club, a chapter of the New York Federation of Music Clubs at McKenna Theatre, State University College, New Paltz, Sunday, Feb. 20, 2 p.m.

Among those featured will be the Cloudbreaker Society of the Association of Native Americans, performing music of the various tribes; Ronald Kidney, tenor; Marsha Spireng, mezzo soprano; Eda Fagon, pianist and composer accompanying; and the Clausland Singers.

Also on the program will be the Temple Chorale, Baptist Temple of Newburgh offering a selection of gospel and spiritual music; and Dianna Ferrara, accompanied by Charlene Scruggs Shacklett and pianists, Dr. Werner Cohn and Rick Askoff. Composers to be represented include Gershwin, Copeland, Samuel Barber, Paul Simon, Eugene Butler, Hall Johnson, Lukas Foss and Nathaniel Dett.

The program is open to the public and donations will be accepted.

Independent Productions will present two one-act comedies at a dinner-theatre program at the Boiceville Inn, tonight and Saturday. Lynn and John Haag are featured in Murray Schisgal's "The Typists," a touching character study of two people in a New York City office. The second Schisgal comedy, "The Tiger," set in a dingy Manhattan basement apartment, wittily denounces "the system" and its victims. Starring will be Adele Ka-

DEAR ABBY

Peace Roses: Thorn in Side

DEAR ABBY: I've always gotten along well with my neighbors, but listen to this. The woman next door has a lovely Peace rose bush.

Last June she planned to take a large bouquet to decorate our church, but when she came out early Sunday morning to cut the roses, she discovered that the bush had been stripped!

Meanwhile, guests whom we had for dinner on Saturday night brought me a large bouquet of Peace roses, which I had placed in our front window.

When my neighbor discovered that her roses were gone and she saw the bouquet in my window, she immediately assumed that they were hers, so she rang my doorbell and awakened me. Then she forced her way into my house, took my flowers and said some terrible things to me. I was too shocked and bewildered to respond.

Since then she's been avoiding me, but her husband still talks to my husband. Now it turns out that on the Monday following the episode, another neighbor had come to her to apologize for her preteen daughter, who had sneaked into her yard that Saturday evening and taken her roses!

My neighbor's husband says his wife is too embarrassed and ashamed to face me, and I should swallow my pride, go over there and make up with her.

Abby, I can't forget those shameful things she said to me. I feel terrible about the whole thing, but since she's in the wrong, I think she should come here and apologize to me. How can this be settled so we can be friends again? — ROSE FEVER

DEAR ROSE FEVER: She SHOULD come to you and apologize, but since she hasn't and you want to be friends again, swallow your pride (thorns and all) and make the first move. Be mature. Defer.

DEAR ABBY: I am 12. I told my father to go jump in the lake. We live by a lake, but it is frozen over now, so he should have known I didn't really mean it.

He grounded me indefinitely. How long is "indefinitely?" — GROUNDED IN MINNESOTA

DEAR GROUNDED: It's for as long as it takes your father to cool off. (Apologize and promise to be more respectful, and it may break the ice.)

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (24 cents) envelope.

3,000 Police Say Goodby to Slain Ptl.

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (UPI) — More than 3,000 police officers from three states turned out Thursday for the funeral of Patrolman Allen McLeod, shot down by a man in a warehouse in New Rochelle.

Preceded by a 40-motorcycle escort, the hearse rolled along a quarter-mile line of blue-coated officers from New York, New Jersey and Connecticut standing at attention in 20-degree weather along Bryant Avenue.

A bitter wind tried to whip an American flag from the casket, but pallbearers held on as they carried McLeod's casket into the Memorial United Methodist Church, past the citizens he had served for seven years as a New Rochelle policeman.

McLeod, a 29-year-old Larchmont resident, was the first policeman to reach the Neptune Worldwide Moving Co., where Cowan killed three Negroes and a native of India before shooting McLeod and taking his own life during a 10-hour siege.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By Jeane Dixon

SATURDAY, FEB. 19
Your birthday today: From an ordinary start your year spreads out, so you have all you can cope with, much service to render, profits to collect. Then you settle back somewhat to prepare for another broad jump ahead the following year to a different situation altogether. Relationships fare well. Today's natives are seldom in need, have agile minds that constantly search for ideas. Those born this year have strong imaginations, inventive talents good for science, research.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Pay up all minor accounts promptly. Any inconvenience is worth the annoyance you avoid. Listen, learn something that puts money in your pocket now and later.

Taurus (April 20-May 20):

Be alert for a bargain, but get all business done early. Garden where local climate permits; elsewhere make tentative plans for the coming warmer season.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Optimism puts you ahead on confidential matters. Say nothing of progress until it's official: signed, sealed, delivered. Change pace, avoid boring repetition.

Cancer (June 21-July 21): Trivial issues are used as starting points by fidgety people seeking excitement. Get technicalities straight. Update accounts, insurance, legal details.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Keep habits directly related to reality. Build a favorable public image: somebody who needs no added endorsement, proceeds in good taste, isn't easily stopped.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Reconcile conflicting pressures. Persuade friends to go along with existing conditions while better projects are organized. Making the deals isn't your job.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Finish all work early. Once past noon you can comfortably skip much that is usually difficult or critical. Nobody is ready to match your steps in any case.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): This morning you have opportunity to make the proverbial stitch in time: a last chance to save long awaited plans from delay. Enjoy loafing in later hours.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Beware a surge of enthusiasm! You very easily outrun associates' interest and tolerance, wind up doing most of the work yourself. Home life smooths out.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Renew a neglected contact to mutual advantage. Use intuition. Don't grind on with work nobody wants to share. Ease up, diverge into social pleasantries.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Be tolerant of people not yet accepted. They've still to learn the essentials. Even old friends seem erratic. Humor is contagious; get all to laugh with you.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Good news is on the way. Imagine a delightful solution to minor problems. Give others a chance to see the light, find their way back to intelligent agreement.

By JEAN ADAMS, Ph.D.

IMPORTANT: (Q.) I know this girl Lissy. I haven't known her very long, but I know I really like her. The hang-up is that I can't ask her if she likes me. I am not shy with other girls. Why am I shy with her? What causes a boy to be shy with a girl he likes? We are both 13. — Trying in Louisiana.

BRACES: (Q.) I've had braces for two years. Last year I got them off, and the difference was fantastic. They really had done a good job. My teeth are straight and pretty now. But I have a friend in great need of braces. Her family is in a bad financial state. Could you tell me how people like her can get the dental work they need?

I am really thankful for what braces did for me, and I know she will be too, if she can get them. — Concerned in Alabama.

Make these suggestions to your friend, but let her handle the discussion with her parents. (Have a problem? Write to Dr. Jean Adams, care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas, 77001. # Secretary of State Vance Has No Comment on Post Report

CIA Reportedly Gave Hussein Millions, Carter Stops It

WASHINGTON(UPI) — Jordan's King Hussein was secretly paid millions of dollars by the CIA during a 20-year period spanning the administrations of five presidents, the Washington Post reported today.

President Carter, who did not learn of the arrangement until a few days ago, has ordered the annual payments stopped, the newspaper said.

"I have seen the report," Secretary of State Cyrus Vance told reporters in Beirut, Lebanon. "I will have no comment, absolutely no comment."

Vance meets with Hussein Saturday as part of a six-nation Middle East tour in search of an enduring peace. It was not known what effect the published report would have on Middle East negotiations.

A high-level delegation from the Palestinian Liberation Organization was scheduled to arrive in Jordan almost immediately after Vance completes talks with Hussein.

The newspaper report, written by Watergate reporter Bob Woodward, said Hussein received approximately $750,000 last year from the CIA both for intelligence information he provided the United States and to pay other informants.

The funds also allowed CIA agents to operate freely in Jordan, the report said.

President Ford knew about the payments, the Post said, but did nothing to stop them.

Neither the CIA, Ford nor members of the Ford administration told Carter of the payments, the Post said.

Carter learned of the payments earlier this week almost four weeks after taking office after the Post began its investigation, the newspaper said.

"In addition, the Senate Intelligence Committee created last year to oversee the CIA apparently was not given the full story by the Ford administration," the Post said.

The cash usually was paid directly to Hussein by the CIA station chief in Amman, the story said.

"One of the most closely held and sensitive of all CIA covert activities, the payments to Hussein were made under the codeword project name of 'No Beef,'" the Post said.

Bombing Incidents Decrease

WASHINGTON(UPI) — The number of bombing incidents dropped to 1,564 in the United States and Puerto Rico last year — the lowest number since records began four years ago, according to the FBI.

"The number of bombing incidents (in 1976) was the lowest recorded for any one-year period since the FBI began compiling this data in 1972," Director Clarence Kelley said in a statement Tuesday.

Forty-five persons were killed, 206 injured and $10.8 million worth of property damaged in the incidents, the FBI said. By comparison, 1975 totals were 69 deaths, 326 injuries and $27 million in damages from 2,074 bombings.

Some CIA officials considered the payments to be bribes and reported them to the Intelligence Oversight Board set up by Ford to put an end to CIA abuses.

"Within the CIA," Woodward said, "the 'No Beef' project has been considered one of its most successful operations, giving the United States great leverage and unusual access to the leader of a sovereign state."

Payments first were made in 1957 during the administration of Dwight D. Eisenhower, the newspaper said. Initial payments "apparently ran in the millions of dollars but they were sharply curtailed to the $750,000 level last year," the newspaper said.

Funds first were given Hussein when he was 21, the Post said, at a time when Jordan was heavily dependent upon the United States and Hussein had little money to bankroll a lifestyle which won him the reputation of a playboy. Some of the CIA money given Hussein has financed bodyguards for his children attending school abroad. Hussein's wife, Queen Alia, 28, was killed last week in a helicopter crash.
